Do you miss Tony Soprano? Nate Fisher? President Bartlet? Were you busy for day 6 of Jack Bauers life? Or maybe you missed it when Tommy Gavin thought he saved that little girl from the fire. The library has a great collection of DVDs. Wait; I know what you are thinking libraries only have books. Books are just one collection that libraries have. Your Chippewa River District Library has a large collection of all kinds of DVDs. Our collection includes major motion pictures, children's movies, foreign films and documentaries. However, one of the most popular groups of DVDs we have is television series. We have everything from CSI to The Dick Van Dyke Show.

If it is Tony Soprano and the family that you are missing, the library has all six seasons of the award winning HBO drama. Called "the television landmark that leaves other landmarks in the dust," by the Washington Post, the first part of Season Six was hailed as a masterpiece by critics." The library also has two books about the Sopranos, "The Sopranos Family Cookbook" by Allen Rucker will help you whip up some fabulous Italian dishes and "The Sopranos: A Family History" also by Allen Rucker tells the incredible true story of one of the most notorious crime families in America. HBO has become a leader in television series'. If you don't subscribe, you may want to check out these other HBO titles available at the library; Six Feet Under, Sex and the City, The Wire, Deadwood and Rome.

If you are a fan of the British Broadcasting Corporation (BBC) then “Monarch of the Glen” is for you. Monarch of the Glen is loosely based on Compton Mackenzie's Highland Novels; the series premiered in 2000 and ran for 7 seasons. In the first season, Archie MacDonald, trying to carve a living out of the London restaurant he runs with his girlfriend Justine, is called back to his Highland home, to the bed of his dying father, Hector. When he arrives, however, Archie finds that the idea of his dying father was just a ploy by his dotty mother, Molly, to get him to Scotland and tell him face to face that he has inherited his father's large estate and castle, Glenbogle.

The library will be closed on the following dates for the holidays, December 24, 25, 31 and January 1. We have some great programs planned for the New Year, including “How to Raise a Money Smart Child” presented by Mark Cashen of Edward Jones. We Can – ways to enhance children’s activities and Nutrition; a three part program presented by Central Michigan Community Hospital. An art talk will be presented by Art Reach of Mid Michigan and Jazz and more at the Library will feature Lois Hartzler’s band Up North Jazz. For dates and time please check out our website at www.crdl.org or call the library at 989.773.3242
